BHAKTAPUR

Bhaktapur is an ancient Newar town in the east corner of the Kathmandu Valley and is listed as a World Heritage by UNESCO for its rich culture, temples, and wood, metal and stone artwork. The main places to see are:

- Layaku (Durbar Square): Bhaktapur Durbar Square is a conglomeration of pagoda and shikhara-style temples grouped around a 55-window palace of brick and wood.
- Nyatapola Temple: This five-storeyed pagoda was built by King Bhupatindra Malla in 1702 A.D. It stands on five terraces, on each of which squat a pair of figures: two famous wrestlers, two elephants, two lions, two griffins, and Baghini and Singhini — the tiger and the lion goddesses.
- Bhairab Nath Temple: This is another pagoda temple of lord Bhairab, the dreadful aspect of Shiva.
- Dattatraya Temple: Consecrated by King Yakshya Malla in 1427 A.D., this temple, according to popular belief, was built out of the trunk of a single tree.

BHAKTAPUR HOTELS

- We can help with all of your travel arrangements by booking hotels, transfers, internal flights and organising tour guides where required.
- If you would like us to reserve a room at a hotel please get in contact with us and we will check availability. Please note these hotels are popular and will fill up for the peak trekking season so it is best for us to reserve a room for you as soon as your travel plans are confirmed.

ACCOMMODATION IN BHAKTAPUR

For our groups we use several hotels in Kathmandu depending on your budget and availability. They are as follows:

HIGH END HOTELS

Hotel Heritage is a boutique hotel conveniently located close to the medieval town of Bhaktapur. This hotel has been restored and retrofitted by local craftsmen with traditional Nepali architecture and furnishings. Most of the bricks come from derelict old palaces and rich merchant's houses in the valley. We have integrated beautiful wood carved windows on Hotel's Front elevation. You will also notice the use of antique marbles and stone floors which were once the pride of few Royal Palaces and are nearly over 400 years old. For more information on this hotel please take a look at their website at <http://hotelheritage.com.np>

MID-LEVEL HOTELS

Hotel Planet Bhaktapur is an Italian- Nepali owned and operated hotel located about fifteen minutes' walk Bhaktapur's Durbar Square. There are twelve rooms with en suite bathrooms. The restaurant is called La Bella Nepali, wide roof terrace with all round views of the Kathmandu valley and a beautiful garden. There is free Wifi throughout the hotel. For more information on this hotel please take a look at their website at: <http://www.nepalplanet.com/>
